

Keyword: Attitude Email

A Sample "Attitude Email"

by Kevin Eikenberry

In Remarkable Leadership, I recommended:

Do a personal attitude check. Ask five people (face to face or by email) to honestly assess your attitude on a scale of 1 to 10 (1 is "in the dumpster" and 10 is "over the moon" or whatever other descriptors you want to use.

The rest of this bonus byte is sample text that you could use to write this email. Do you have to use exactly this? Not at all, but perhaps this starting point will help you do this simple yet powerful exercise.

Subject: I'd Like Your Input

Hi !

I've been working on my leadership skills with the help of the book Remarkable Leadership (www.RemarkableLeadershipBook.com), and one of the things I'd like some feedback on is my attitude. When you think about my attitude both as an individual and a leader, how would you characterize it on a scale of 1-10?

I know that our attitude is contagious and I want to be spreading the attitude that best supports our success. If you want to give me specific feedback or examples I would love that, but I would be happy to simply receive a reply with a number from 1 – 10 using this scale:

- 1 – Your attitude is consistently in the dumpster
- .
- .
- .
- 10 – You've got the best, most contagious attitude I've ever seen!

Thanks in advance for your feedback and help!

Sincerely,
Your name

Kevin Eikenberry is a bestselling author, consultant, trainer, speaker, coach, leader, learner, husband and father. He is the Chief Potential Officer of the Kevin Eikenberry Group (www.KevinEikenberry.com) and the Creator of the Remarkable Leadership Learning System (www.Remarkable-Leadership.com), both of which are dedicated to life-long learning and helping Clients unleash their remarkable potential. Interested in becoming the remarkable leader you were born to be? Go to www.Remarkable-Leadership.com today!